CODE OF PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

Each member shall use best efforts in the conduct of its business activities to:

Conduct business affairs with professionalism and skill to provide the best housing value possible through the use of quality materials, construction practices backed by integrity and service, to provide housing of high standards of safety, sanitation and livability.

Comply with all other applicable laws governing licensing, warranty, and building codes.

Conduct all transactions, agreements and dealings with customers, employees, subcontractors, suppliers and regulatory officials free from fraud or deception and comply with requirements of the Minnesota Unfair Trade Practices Act.

Abide by the bylaws, rules and procedures of the Association.

Membership in the Association should not be used by members to avoid problems in their business. Therefore to protect the reputation of the Association, members shall not use membership on a committee or board to advance personal position or attempt to influence action of others.

Maintain insurance as may be required by law, including but not limited to general liability and workers compensation insurance, at a level that is adequate and customary for the business in which the member is engaged.

Enforcement of this provision is initiated by the filing of a written complaint with the Association's Ethics Committee (or other named committee or third-party dispute resolution firm that may be contacted by the Association) concerning a dispute involving the member's business or an alleged violation of the Code.

This Code applies to all corporations, partnerships and other business entities in which the member or a principle of the member has a majority interest.
